There are 2 grants you can get for installing chargepoints for electric vehicles at a property you own:

You can use an infrastructure grant and a chargepoint grant on the same property.

There's a different way to apply for an EV chargepoint grant if you're living in a rented or leased flat.

An EV chargepoint grant gives you money off the cost of installing an electric vehicle chargepoint socket.

These can be across several properties and installations or for one property.

An EV infrastructure grant gives you money off the cost of wider building and installation work that's needed to install multiple chargepoint sockets.

The work can be for sockets you want to install now and in the future. For example, an EV infrastructure grant can cover things like wiring and posts.

You can get up to £30,000 or 75% off the cost of the work. The amount depends on how many parking spaces the work covers.

You can get up to 30 infrastructure grants each financial year.

Each infrastructure grant must be used for a different property.

You can apply on behalf of a company, charity or public sector organisation, but it must be registered in the UK. The grant can only be used on existing properties. It cannot be used for buildings under construction.

You or the organisation you represent are a residential landlord if you own or manage:
