Home energy audit near me

Do you have high energy bills? Are you experiencing drafts or inconsistent temperatures at home? Viridian offers home energy audits - which are wellness check-ups for your home. Our experts inspect your home, checking insulation, heating and cooling equipment, appliances, doors and windows, solar potential, and more. We provide tailored recommendations to solve comfort problems, improve indoor air quality, and minimize your environmental impact, all while saving you money for years to come.

Viridian's add-on diagnostic services (see below) can be added to your in-home energy audit to measure the performance of key systems in the home. These can be selected as part of the energy audit registration.

“As a conservation professional, energy efficiency is very important to me and I got an energy audit with Viridian soon after moving. As a first time homebuyer, learning the ins and outs of our home's energy consumption was daunting but Andrew really broke it down for us in a way that was understandable and engaging. The prioritized report provided afterwards was comprehensive but easy to navigate and we will definitely refer to it often. I found the whole process fascinating and am looking forward to making the recommended improvements to our home! “
