As subject matter experts, we provide only objective information. We design every article to provide you with deeply-researched, factual, useful information so that you can make informed home electrification and financial decisions. We have:

Sourced the majority of our data from hundreds of thousands of quotes through our own marketplace.

Incorporated third-party data and information from primary sources, government agencies, educational institutions, peer-reviewed research, or well-researched nonprofit organizations.

Built our own database and rating system for solar equipment, including solar panels, inverters, and batteries.

We won't charge you anything to get quotes through our marketplace. Instead, installers and other service providers pay us a small fee to participate after we vet them for reliability and suitability. Choosing a solar installer can feel like a daunting task if you're not sure what to look for. There are a number of important factors to consider when making a big financial investment such as going solar, and understanding what types of questions to ask potential installers will help you find the right company for your specific needs.

EnergySage has helped connect thousands of homeowners with installers, so we put together a list of the most helpful questions prospective buyers can ask to select the right installer and the best solar system for their needs.

Good installers want you to ask questions, ranging from panel size and hardware requirements, to warranty packages and financing options, to installer licenses and certifications.

"It's important you talk to an expert, and that you understand that this is essentially an open heart surgery for your house," said John Wagner, head of sales at Custom Solar Solutions, an installer based in Atlanta.

Ultimately, you'll have questions unique to your property and your project. Here are some worthwhile questions you can ask installers when you're vetting who's right to take on your solar project.

We have high standards for solar installers that we partner with throughout the country. When bringing new installers into the EnergySage Marketplace, here's how we ensure our partners are the best of the best:
