

Solar storage spain

As specialists in commercial and industrial installations, I think this fair is a good meeting point for other companies.

It is a different concept that is needed in a market where things have been the same for a long time. The experience has been very positive, there have been good contacts and old and potential new clients.

I absolutely recommend this fair to anyone else within the sector. Lots of our clients and prospects are here, and we look forward to meeting those people face to face and building those connections in person.

I have seen so many friends from the industry and met new ones. The facilities that the event presents for networking, to learn from speakers and to discover technological solutions are incredible.

Many customers came to our booth to enquire about our BESS system, which one of our main projects. We had 4 salespeople here and everyone was very busy.

It was a fantastic event, I'm much more informed about the state of solar and storage in Spain than I was before attending.

It is a very good place to sense the state of the art of solar technologies and business.

A very interesting event focused on solar and storage, many interesting speakers and a very good location.

It's a good opportunity to gain an update about new solutions in the market and to meet partners and new possible business connections.

Well-selected speakers and up-to-date topics related to solar energy and battery systems. Most of the stands were well prepared to provide information and clarify any doubts visitors might have.

Very well-balanced experience with company stands, conferences and round tables, as well as high public attendance.

Very good organisation and opportunities to connect with experts in the sector.
